

Do You Have “Presidential” Blood Running Through Your Veins?
Find Out by Joining the World’s Largest Online Family Tree at www.OneGreatFamily.com

February 12, 2010, Springville UT – Presidents’ Day traditionally honors George Washington, our first President. Many states honor President Abraham Lincoln on the same holiday, and some also recognize Presidents who were natives of their state or elected President while living there. Are you related to these great leaders of the United States? Find out at OneGreatFamily.com, where you can explore the family trees of many Presidents, plus enter your own genealogy and see if there are connections between your tree and one of our Presidents’.

OneGreatFamily.com hosts a gigantic, interconnected family tree with more than 200 million names that have been submitted by genealogy enthusiasts in their own family trees. You can potentially uncover and connect information about multiple generations to yourself.

Find Family Ties to Famous Athletes, and Historical Figures

- Go to the Presidents’ Day page at OneGreatFamily.com to learn about U.S. Presidents and see many of their family trees.
- Many of our Presidents have also been cousins! See how several Presidents were related to each other, for example Lincoln and Bush, Washington and Jefferson, Reagan and Lincoln.
- Join OneGreatFamily.com (free trial or full membership) and begin entering your own family tree (increase your odds of finding a connection by entering at least 18 names).
- OneGreatFamily’s search engine makes connections to any other branches of your family tree that are already there (this may take a while – we plow through more than 18 TRILLION comparisons of family relationships every week).
- To outline family connections, click the Family Dashboard tab, and scroll to the Relationship Calculator. Choose How is this person [select yourself] Related to this person [select Famous People and scroll to the President you’re interested in]. The database will churn through hundreds of millions of names and outline the relationship (if it exists).

About www.OneGreatFamily.com

OneGreatFamily.com was founded in 1999 by Alan Eaton with a vision to merge all of the separate family trees created by genealogists into one unified tree. Today more than 200,000,000 individuals have been submitted. Users can try the site with a free 7-day trial or purchase a full-access subscription.

###

Note: trademarks are the property of their respective holders.